The Education Justice Project offers for-credit U of I courses and other educational programs to individuals incarcerated at Danville Correctional Center. We are currently accepting applications from faculty, staff, graduate students, and community members to teach in the program. All fields and disciplines welcome. Applications close on Oct 2, 2017.

For-credit course instructors will be paid $3,000/class.

Applicants should have interest in becoming part of a diverse, inclusive, supportive, critical community.
